Six Boys, Man, Badly Hurt In Fire Car Crash

Three May Be Fatally Hurt As Speeding Truck Overturns

Six boys, ranging in ages from 16 to 21, and a truck driver, Walter A. Stone, 38, of Sacramento, were hurt, perhaps some of them fatally about noon yesterday in Grass Valley when a state forestry truck heading for a fire near that city, got out of control and overturned several times.

All of the boys, riding in the rear of the water-laden light truck, were seriously injured with skull fractures broken bones and internal injuries

Three were so critically hurt that they may not survive.

The most seriously injured are Billy Tobiassen, 16, son of Sheriff and Mrs. C. J. Tobiassen. He has head injuries, broken leg, broken pelvis and a broken arm.

Laurence Gallez, 21, Grass Valley, fractured skull.

Ray Miner, 17, Lincoln, head and body injuries.

Others injured included William Kennedy, 18, Nevada City.

Victor Clamo, 16, San Francisco.

Stanley Foreman, 16, Nevada City.

Stone, the driver, had a broken arm. Full extent of the injuries were not immediately available and all were taken to hospitals.

Stone said the accelerator on the truck stuck while he was going down a grade near Bret Harte Inn. He attempted to avoid some children in the road and the car went out of control, overturning and scattering the human load over a wide area.

State Patrol Captain J. E. Blake and Patrolman George Smith were called to aid the Grass Valley police in the investigation.

by WALTER M. BARRETT

Next Tuesday between the hours of 6 a. m. and 7 p. m., citizens of California have a sacred duty they must perform. They will be called upon to select the men best qualified to conduct the affairs of our state, community and nation during the most trying times we have ever experienced. Our opinions may differ on whom these leaders shall be, but the majority will decide and so long as we live by the wishes of the majority, we shall be a free country. The majority, however, cannot be decided unless everyone votes. Those who do not vote are neglecting a privilege, taken for granted in our way of life, which is retained by only a comparative handful of people in the world who are still permitted to govern themselves. For the sake of those thousands who are giving their lives in the name of democracy, let's not let election day pass without voting. Your vote, though it may appear a small item individually, is most important if you want the American way of living to survive So if you value your country and its form of government neglect everything else, if you please, but go to the polls and VOTE!

The speed of most vehicles along our highways these days has slackened noticably and only a few are still violating the demands of the government and state, to "keep it under 40." In many instances, those continuing to violate the rules are the very ones the rest of us are sacrificing for so they may be kept with usable tires and cars. For these we heartily recommend severe punishment. Taking advantage of such a condition, in our opinion, is un-American. The rulings provide that once these careless drivers are apprehended they forfeit further right to tires and cars, but that ruling fails to right the wrong. If the services of the violator were so in demand before he was arrested, then they must still be in demand after and thus by speeding and carelessness he sabotages not only his tires and automobile but himself as well.

DRAFT EVASION IS CHARGED TO MAN IN TRUCKEE JAIL

Frank Perry, 29, who claims San Francisco as his residence, was being held in the Truckee jail this week awaiting disposition of his case by federal officers. He was arrested last week by mititary police when he could not produce his selective service registration card, and turned over to Deputy Sheriff N. F. Dolley.

After a few days in jail, Perry, a native of Honolulu, finally admitted, Dolley said, that he never registered for the draft.

Perry at first claimed he had been placed in 3-A classification because he was married, but when asked about an Indian girl with whom he was arrested, he revealed that he had never married, but intended to. As a matter of fact, his story was so inconsistent, that Dolley informed the FBI and Perry was ordered held pending further investigation.

ROSSARINI'S STOCK BEING SOLD AFTER 24 YEARS IN TOWN

After more than 24 years continuous business in Truckee, Rossarini's store is soon to be only a memory.

A Los Angeles wholesale liquidating company has purchased the big stock of fine merchandise and under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Neuman tomorrow will inaugurate a closing out sale. Everything that can be sold here will be disposed of as quickly as possible and the balance of the stock, including men's women's and children's wearing apparel, will be shipped to Los Angeles

Details of the sale are contained in an ad on another page of The Sierra Sun today.

Mrs. Elva Rossarini and her daughter, Mrs. Sigurd Rossarini Ulland who have operated the store for so many years, are regretfully leaving Truckee in the near future to make their home in Oakland. Mrs. Ulland has been ordered to the bay district by physicians and for that reason disposed of the store.

Rationing Of Sugar For Canning Is Explained By County Coordinater

Jack Osborne, Grass Valley, coordinator of rationing boards for Nevada County desires to clarify the confusion in obtaining canning sugar.

The proceedure with all boards is identical. Without appeal to the War Price and Rationing Board, persons authorized by the boards are empowered to grant 13 pounds of sugar for canning at the rate of one pound for each four quarts of finished canned fruit and one pound for making jam, jelly or fruit butters on each war ration book No. 1.

There is no further grant for the making of jellies, etc.

When this original 13 pound allotment is used, the boards are authorized to grant further sugar for canning if need for such sugar is established. That is, each application for sugar after the 13 pounds become an individual problem for the local War Price and Rationing Board

Applications in Truckee under Board No. 29-3 may be made with C. B. White, clerk, and may be acted upon immediately, if a quorum of the board are available.

If additional allotments are required, the applicant must bring or send War Ration Book No. 1 with each application and provide such information as is required to convince the board of the necessity of further allotment of canning sugar. A single application is sufficient for an entire family unit but ration books of each member of the family must be taken with the application.

Information must be accurate and severe penalties are provided where applicants furnish misinformation, it was pointed out by Osborne.

POWER COMPANY INSTALLS SCREEN AT FARAD FLUME

Ending a controversy which had caused sportsmen, game wardens and Sierra Pacific Power Company officials no little worry during recent years, the power company last week installed a new Berkeley fish screen at the mouth of the canal on the Truckee river leading to the Farad power house.

Manager F. W. Gaiennie of the Sierra Pacific said the new electric screen has been approved by the state fish and game commission and that tests have proven it thorough apparatus to prevent trout from go into the flume and thence to their death in the power house turbines.

The screen cost $1500, Gainnie said and installation costs equalled that sum.

NO REFUND WILL BE GIVEN DEER TAGS

Numerous inquiries are being received by the State Division of Fish and Game regarding the possibility of paying a refund on deer tags and hunting licenses that hunters will be unable to use because of hunting restrictions on deer.

There is no provision in law by which funds when once deposited can be refunded unless by special act of the state legislature. It is therefore impossible to pay such a refund. However, those who have purchased licenses know their money will be used to carry on the work of fish and game conservation, to provide better hunting and fishing in the future.

MY PLACE IN THE SUN

By PVT. DOUG BARRETT

Well, friends, here I am a full-fledged soldier for my Uncle Sam. Frankly, it's not very tough. Most guys tell you that this is a life for a superman—they're just trying to put themselves in a superman class. Most of the men here are average Americans, mentally and physically, just like Harld Noy, the boy from Nevada City in the bunk right next to mine. He's a galvanized Cousin Jack and proud of it. This army isn't going to hurt anyone of us if we keep our noses clean. An occasional K. P. or a couple of hours drill won't kill anyone physically fit for Army service and the effects of the medical "shots" are mainly mental.

And speaking of K. P., brothers and sisters, I'm now a dishwasher first class with 14 hours in the sink. If you folks think automatic appliances have taken the work out of K. P., guess again, kids, guess again.

Coincidence: While on K. P. the other day I ran into a couple of lads I went to grammar school with in Woodland. Small army, this.

On the way here I spotted Bob Leamon's picture in the Sacramento Union.....Eb Smart, Del Powell, Bob Jefford and the Grass Valley Lions were down to see us off and gave us each a carton of cigarettes or a pound of candy. Very nice.

If I don't gain a couple of pounds it won't be my fault. Three squares per diem is what I mean. I'll bet there isn't a better fed bunch in creation than this crew..... And speaking of eatin' soup's on, so I'm off. Be seein' you.

P. S. This getting up at 6 A. M. isn't the most convenient hour but then I'll get used to it—I hope!

Thanx again Vern and Ervina This pen is going to see a lot of service.

DEER HUNTING IN THIS AREA HANGS ON FUTURE MOVES

By Bob Bennyhoff
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 20.— (UP)— That on-again, off-again California deer season is on again—this time only until August 21.

The hunters' latest reprieve came from Attorney General Earl Warren, who ruled the state cannot legally close the season until two closing notices are published, at least a week apart.

The order, issued by Kenneth Fulton, state director of public resources and approved by Gov. Culbert Olson, ordered hunters to lay down their guns immediately .

After four days during which the hunters were uncertain whether to risk heavy fines for hunting "out or season" or stay home and grumble the latest action apparently settled the issue.

Until tomorrow at sunset, the hunters can shoot their legal limit of bucks. After that, no more hunting.

Gen. John L. DeWitt, western defense commander, made no indication that the army would order closing of the season before the deadline set by the attorney general's office.

Closing of the season followed Gen. DeWitt's request that such action be taken.

No announcement has yet been made by any agency—state or federal—concerning the fate of the season in the northern and eastern districts scheduled to be opened September 16.

Fulton said that a logical conclusion, following Gen. DeWitt's request that earlier season be closed, would be that the remaining districts also be closed, but that no official hint of that possibility had been given.

Other sources at the capitol said closing of the approaching northern and eastern season would be only a "formality."

Defense Aides Will Be Protected During Work

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 20.— (UP)— Civilian defense workers will receive financial annd medical aid for injuries suffered during official blackouts, the state council of defense announced this week.

In case of death, assistance in paying burial costs also will be forthcoming.

Funds for such benefits are available from the special fund administered by President Roosevelt which was created on Feb. 6, 1942. It will be used until congress enacts permanent legislation for civilian aid.

In Californina, funds will be administered by the county welfare departments under the direction of the state department of social welfare, the defense counncil said.

Costly Filing Fee Is Reported By Candidates

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 20.— (UP)— It cost California candidates for the various state and congressional offices just $36,324 to place their names on the coming primary election ballot.

Secretary of State Paul Peek revealed today that candidates seeking constitutional offices peaid the largest total, $7,380.

FINNEGAN ASSAILS RECORD OF CONGRESS

Frank G. Finnegan of Nevada City Democratic candidate for congress from the Second California district completing his second tour of the entire district, is confident the people of the district desire a change from he incumbent congressman.

Finnegan visiting Truckee, appeared happy and confident at the prospects of his candidacy and said that throughout the district fellow democrats, as well as republicans who oppose the incumbent's policies, are rallying to elect him to the congressional seat.

Finnegan said that he notice particularly that there is no split among the democrats who number almost 2 to 1 over republicans in registration, as far as his candidacy is concerned.

Finnegan says he has not only the support of democrats who favor Olson but also democrats who are boosting for Earl Warren as the California governor.

"Sentiment among the democrats is against continued representation in congress from this district by a republican who has not only followed an isolationism policy but one of constant opposition to President Roosevelt," candidate Finnegan stated.

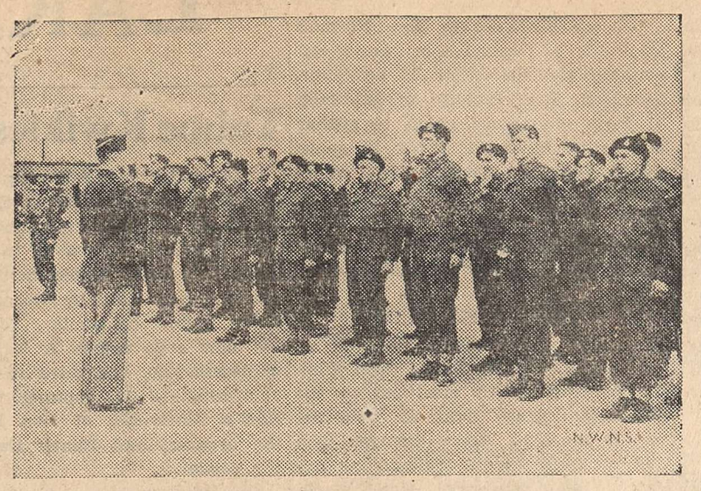
U. S. Citizens Fight Under Own Flag



U. S. citizens who jumped the gun and got in the war, via the Canadian army, before Uncle Sam was attacked, are pictured just after their release from the Canadian army in England as they were sworn into the U. S. army. Britain is releasing any American who wishes to fight under his own flag. The above men still wear the Canadian uniform.

Polish Refugee Children in Iran

Here a group of Polish refugee children in Tehran, Iran, use an uncompleted Nazi machine gun factory for a schoolroom. Before the British and Russians drove them out, the Nazis started this project but it has now turned into a useful building by Red Cross supervision.

Tahoe Schools

On August 25th about 2:15 P. M. several fine moving pictures will be shown the Tahoe school children in the auditorium. The program will consist of the showing of First Aid and Some of It's Administrations, Adventures of Bunny Rabbit and Colorful Mexico. All are welcome. The pictures are part of the instruction program.

A new pupil, Timmy Marek of Tahoe City is a trasfer from the Los Angeles area. He is in the 4th grade.

The school is averaging 31 hot lunches daily, accoridng to Mrs. Gallinger, with Mrs. Nora Hevel's tasty cooking proving most popular.

The "Tahoe Chatter", local school paper issued last week for the first time this semester. The children edit it's contents completely. The cover of last week's issue was especially dainty goldenrod done in cutpaper work, the artist being Miss Barbara McCuen.

Two new pupils have joined the musical instrument classes of Otto Fox, local orchestra leader. Peg E. Stuart and Terry Tollefson are the two.

The local school trustees enhanced the play grounds prior to the opening of school by having a load of sand spread beneath the bars.

At a meeting of the Junior Red Cross this week the members voted to learn to knit. Mrs. George Bliss, local Red Cross chairman has promised to provide the junior class with an instructor who will show them how to knit, wash cloths and gradually more complicated things. The cloths will be made to order for the Auburn unit of the Red Cross of which Tahoe is a branch.

The project which the group sponsore last week of looking up the names of former male pupils to whom they might correspond upon their entry into their country's service has brought to light so far the names of 96 boys who attended the Tahoe schools who are now in the service age. Of this number nine are known to be already in some branch of the service and it is believed a large number will have been found when the search is ended.

Blake Goss, granndson of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Goss of Lake Forest, is home again for an indefinite period of rest. After having been accepted into the southern California camp he was subjected to the routine tests but none of the vaccines took. Some time ago, while playing football at Tahoe Lake school, he was badly injured and was laid up for several weeks under medical care. At this writing he is almost deaf in his left ear as a recurrence of the pressure upon the injured ear drum. The camp doctors sent him to Tahoe, hoping the altitude may rectify his trouble and permit him to again join them at camp.

TAHOE CITY, Aug. 20.— James Easton, Jr., grandson of Captain and Mrs. John Kvistberg of Tahoe Park has been enjoying a lot of well-earned publicity recently, his picture, a very fine head portrait, pen-sketched by the famous columnist Howard Brodie, appearing in the sporting green of the Chronicle on July 26 with a complimentary writeup regarding his winning of the Inferno ski title at Mt. Lassen on June 28. The Examiner on June 28 in the Sports Parade carried a large photo of Jimmy negotiating the winning down mountain run, which won for him a war bond. His former classmates are offering sincere congratulations to the hometown boy who made good as a skiier even in the Navy.

LETTER EXPLAINS HIGHWAY ISSUE IN TAHOE DISTRICT

The following letter from G. N. Cook, assistant secretary to L. L. Penfield, secertary of the California Highway Commission, gives the details concerning plans for removal of snow at Tahoe this winter: The letter is addressed to H. F. Droste, secretary of the Tahoe-Sierra association. It follows:

Dear Mr. Droste:

Your letter of August 4, 1942, addressed to Mr. Larry Barrett, chairman of the California Highway Commission, has been referred to this office for attention. The subject matter of your communication is an inquiry relative to a rumor that State highways in the vicinity of Lake Tahoe will not be kept open this winter and a further inquiry as to whether this matter is proposed for consideration by the California Highway Commission at its regular meeting to be held this month.

Neither the California Highway Commission nor the Department of Public Works has taken any steps to suspend snow-removal work, nor is the matter up for consideration at this time. However, this department is experiencing considerable difficulty in its highway activities, because of the necessary restrictions placed by the Federal government; and, in all probability, additional subsequent restrictions will be placed in the interest of the all-out war effort. Unless present governmental restrictions on equipment replacements, repair parts, and man power are modified, no assurance can be given of the continued maintenance of any road not essential to the war effort. You are familiar with the operation of the type of equipment necessary in snow removal operations and the terrific strain on the equipment, resulting in periodical breakdowns. It is therefore necessary that replacement parts be available for immediate repair, as even a 24-hour delay may mean the closure of a road for the balance of the season.

I trust that the people of the Lake Thoe area who are dependent upon open roads throughout the winter can appreciate our desire to keep these roads open and also the handicap under which the Department is now operating. While it is the desire of the Department to continue this work, conditions beyond our control may change this procedure.

THE STORY OF A TIMID MAN

This is the story of the Timid Man on the Back Row.

From 1898 to 1912, J. Will Lysons was secretary of the Republican State Central Committee with headquarters in Seattle, Wash. Big-wig political speakers were sent out from New York, and it was Lysons' job to assign them to towns for speeches. They were to him great and mighty men for he was a silent, tongue-tied young man who couldn't have made a speech to save his life.

On one occasion, the man who was to introduce the big gun failed to appear. J. Will Lysons was called on. He was so scared he couldn't even pronounce the man's name. If someone had told him that some day he would be able to address an audience, he would have thought the man crazy.

A change came into his life. He moved to New York, became circulation manager of The Elks Magazine and grew tremendously interested in the work the Elks were doing for crippled children. J. Will threw himself into this work—without pay. He sympathized deeply with the unfortunate children. He was trying to raise money for them, and wrote pages of publicity.

One night he accompanied a speaker who told about children, and so touched the hearts of his listeners that $8,000 was collected. J. Will saw something that he had never seen before. That the spoken word was ten times as powerful as the written word. A thought stole into his mind. "If I could make a speech I could do more for the crippled children than by writing about them for a month." The audacity of the idea made him tremble. But he was so heart-deep in the cause that he decided to try even if he died on the spot.

He made another decision. He would not walk onto the platform untrained, so he took a course in public speaking. He was one of the most hopeless persons in the class. The first time, he spoke one sentence and slumped into his seat. Meantime the class director had learned that he was tremendously interested in crippled children and called on him to talk for three minutes about them. J. Will got to his feet. Here was something vital to him. He had seen hundreds of crippled children. He knew their story, and he talked—the shortest three minutes he ever knew. There was a round of applause. How old do you think he was? Seventy! Yes, made his first public speech at 70!

I saw him not long ago. On his desk were thirty requests for a speech at different clubs and organizations. He has won four speaking contests. It has transformed his life. He now likes to speak. He is a power and influence in his own circle. He is no longer the Timid Man on the Back Row, the Envied Man on the Platform. He has developed power and self-confidence.

Other people can do this, too, if they only think they can. To learn to speak in public opens a magic door.

Politically Speaking

by JOHN W. DUNLAP

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 20.—(UP)—When half the electorate turns out for an election, it is considered a better than usual average. But every sign points to a dismal showing for the Aug. 25 primary.

Deputy Secretary of State Charles Hagerty, a veteran of three decades and a good judge of election trends, admits he is stumped. He predicted that a 40 per cent turnout of the registered 3,751,290 voters would be pretty good and it might drop down to 30 per cent, as was the case in some Eastern states recently.

A 40 per cent return would be approximately 1,500,000 votes, as was contrasted to the 49.8 per cent vote at the 1940 August primary, when 1,885,537 persons voted out of the registration of 3,782,702. A30 per cent vote would drop this figure down to 1,125,000.

The last two primary votes for governor, in 1938 and 1934, respectively, had voting percentages of 59.9 and 59.3, which meant around 2,000,000 votes. In both cases, however there was an exciting contest for governor and various other races, whereas this primary is pretty well cut and dried because so many would be candidates were forced out of the race by machine politics.

In wartime, as no other, citizens should be awake to their responsibilities to take an interest in the ballot. But human nature being what it is, there are to many diversions. Thousands of persons are air raid spotters or air raid wardens, or enrolled in first aid courses. Most every family now has a son or brother or father in the armed services. War news fills the papers, in fact crowds out all but the hottest political news. Higher taxes haunt the people in the midd and upper brackets.

Families move into defense areas and lose their registration right. Men have left for the armed service duty and won't atke the trouble to vote by absentee ballot.

These are the more obvious reasons why the vote will be small. Another angle worth Considering is the fact with so many men at war or away from home, the women will cast a more important vote than ever before So the case with the elder citizenns, including the more militant members of the pension groups.

All in all, the primary shapes up as one of the most difficult to predict in California's history.

This is the season of political endorsements. Each candidate seeks to line up an imposing list of names and organizations purportedly backing him. But there is reason to doubt the value of many of these endorsements, mostly by sheer weight of numbers.

The average voter is not overly swayed by what John Jones thinks, particularly when he is not acquainted with John Jones. And the fact that the AFL or CIO endorses a candidate is no reason why the rank and file of the union will do likewise. Some union members are paying dues unwillingly and because they must do so to hold a job. Others have personal reasons for voting as they please, not as some union boss says they should.

And the bane of all campaigns are the phoney organizations formed by special interests. This league and that springs up, have fancy letterheads printed, and start beating the drums for their side.

It is true that in recent years, it is physically impossible for any candidate to get around and meet all the people, so news in the newspapers and speeches over the radio have to pick up the slack where personal appearances leave off. Still, most people like to think individually and not by the rubber stamp method.

One of the newer state officials is Cornelius J. Hagerty, head of the AFL in California and now a member of the state personnel board. From all outward appearances at his first few meetings, he is going to do a splendid job.

DEMOCRATS URGE SUPPORT OF EARL WARREN

'Olson Must Go,' Says Democratic Leader; Democrats Head Warren Committees

Signalling the mounting volume of rank and file Democrats switching away from Olson leadership, Democratic Assemblyman Jack B. Tenney, well known Musicians Union Leader in Los Anglese and legislative investigator of subversive activities, strongly opposes Governor Olson's reelection.

Tenney was one of the governor's staunchest supporters at the beginning of the Olson administration. This is what he now has to say:

"There can be no real Democracy within the Democratic party in California so long as its control rests with the present leadership. There is no room for independent thinking orr wholesale opposition to the MACHINE.

"Olson has mistaken leadership for ownership. A change is absolutely necessary. Olson must go!"

Tenney's position is endorsed it appears by thousands of Democrats in California. Significantly, Democratic leaders head more than half the County Committees active in the Warren campaign for Governor.

"Democrats," declares Jos. J. Rosborough, former Oakland Postmaster and Democratic leader, "should ponder well the words of Assemblyman Tenney, an outstanding leader in our own party.

"In this time of great national emergency, President Roosevelt has asked that petty partisanship be adjourned for greater responsibilities California needs an administration pledged to that principle. Earl Warren, whose integrity has never been questioned, pledges such an administration. And Warren has never been known to break his word."

War Calls Must Go Through

A cherished tradition among telephone men and women is that "the message must go through."

War messages for the sake and safety of all of us must go through first.

The demands of War are placing a load on our Long Distance lines often beyond their capacity.

It is impossible to build more switchboards and lines because materials such as copper must be used in making munitions and weapons.

You who use the telephone in these critical times can aid in getting War messages through promptly and in cutting down possible delays on your own essential calls if you will—

Be brief—Plan what you want to say.

Make calls only that you find essential.

Place your calls by number and use station-to-station service.

Answer your telephone promptly.

Your cooperation in these simple matters will make possible the maximum use of existing voice highways. Thank you for your help.

THE CARE OF THE EYES

Nature has gone to unusual lengths in protecting the eyes—tears for cleansing, eye lashes to keep out foreign particles, the overhanging forehead to keep hard knocks from reaching the delicate eye—but there is nothing to stand between the eyes and their greatest enemy, misuse, except intelligent care. Parents are alone responsible for the misuse of a baby's eyes. They are also indirectly responsible for bad eye hygiene later on if they fail to teach their children the value of good eyesight and how to preserve it.

Never leave a baby lying in his carriage to look up into the light. Of course he will blink and use other instinctive means for shutting out part of the brightness, but you could spare him this wasteful use of energy by keeping the carriage hood over his eyes and the carriage itself turned away from the sun. Even during the daily sun bath shade his eyes. In the house, just because the baby is fascinated by a bright light do not let him face it, or for that matter lie for long looking at a bright wall. In decorating the nursery keep the baby's eyes in mind and choose a soft pastel color for the walls.

It takes the average baby three months or longer to learn to focus the eyes so a few cross-eyed glances needn't alarm you. However if after a few weeks either eye or both eyes pull inward or outward most of the time, better see an eye specialist who will prescribe exercises for strengthening the weaker eye.

Babies are born with far-sighted eyes. Their eyeballs are shorter and flatter from front to back than those of an adult. As the child grows the eyeball rounds out until it becomes virtually spherical in shape. Because of this immaturity of the eye you do not give a small child toys or games which require close vision any more than you confront his immature brain with problems beyond his years. One shudders to think of the little girls who were once forced to do needlework before their eyes were ready for it because "sewing a fine seam" was a first step in feminine accomplishments.

A careful checkup of the child's eyes should be made before entering school, and frequently thereafter until visual maturity is reached. (Remember that a child can't tell you if he has a visual defect because he doesn't know what 100 per cent sight is.) Not all children's eyes are ready for reading at school age. The eyeball may not only still be too immature in shape, but the child may not have learned as yet to use his eyes in unison. Correct alignment is as necessary for the eyes as it is for the wheels of an automobile. So if your child is slow in reading he may need special visual training rather than extra drill with words and sentences.

MAY OCCUPY GOVERNOR'S MANSION

To Californians whose deepest interest lies in their own children, their own homes—the family that occupies the Governor's House at Sacramento is important.

Here is the family of the man that hundreds of thousands of Californians want at the helm of State government during the war crisis and in the troublesome post-war days to come. They are: first row—Robert and Nina; second row—Virginia, Dorothy, Earl, Jr.; third row—James, Mrs. Warren and Earl Warren.

'Keep the Scrap Heap Growing'

We have had Scrap Iron drives and Rubber drives and Aluminum drives—and each one has uncovered great masses of desperately needed material. We may have "drives" to salvage everything from cornhusks to old shoes—and each drive will produce more great quantities of material. The only trouble with "drives" is—that as soon as one is officially over we relax and wait for the next.

There is one outstanding item which our factories must have in large and continuing quantities. It is scrap Iron. They can't depend on the stock piles which the drives produce—they must have a steady, unending stream of this material.

We think we cleaned up about all the rubber and scrap around our place during the recent big "pushes." But it is long odds that we didn't. This writer made another search around the farm which he operates and was shocked at the amount of rubber, and particularly of scrap iron which he had missed. All sorts of little pieces turned up, and he changed his mind on a good many heavier pieces which he thought might be too useful around the place at some time or other.

Now as a matter of cold calculation that "some time or other" might not arrive unless we civilians get as hardboiled as the military does. Wars are won back of the fighting lines just as much as on them. Each day makes us realize what a long hard road we have ahead of us and each day should make us dig a little deeper into the rubbish heap in our ceaseless search for more and ever more scrap. A little bit more will turn up each time we make a search. Sometimes it will be too small an amount to send in or to sell; but if we start our own personal scrap piles it won't be long before they will grow to saleable or giveable dimensions.

There are six million farms in the United States. If only half of these collected and turned in regularly all their accumulated and accumulating scrap iron, it would very materially hasten the construction of the ships and other armaments which we need for victory.

It is always possible to find out where to deliver old rubber, scrap iron and other useful salvage. Ask the town banker, or the preacher, or the chamber of commerce, or the women's club, or the Red Cross or the Boy Scouts or corner grocer or the garage man. Someone will know.

At this very moment one of our troubles is a shortage of steel with which to build ships—and ships mean victory. Every pound of scrap iron which every one of us can sell or give is needed right now. We have got to win this war and this is one way in which almost every farmer has helped and can steadily continue to help. "Keep the Scrap Heap Growing" might well be another useful slogan.

A Statement To The Voters Of Nevada County

Due to the present conditions, and the fact that I have had to continue working at my present job, I have been unable to contact every voter individually. Therefore, I am taking this means of making my platform known to the citizens of Nevada County.

If elected, I will conduct the affairsof the office of Assessor with econony, looking toward the reduc tion of taxes, and the best interests of the people of Nevada County. All local governments must reduce costs during the present emergency when all resources must be expended to the winning of the war.

All property appraisals will be made fairly, and, without discrimination against any individual or group.

The office will be open to any and all citizens who wish assistance with problems in connection with assessments.

It will be my aim to serve the people of Nevada County with the utmost efficiecy, economy and courtesy.

HENDERSON MAKES FINAL STATEMENT TO CLOSE CAMPAIGN

R. R. Henderson, congressional candidate for the second district, closed his campaign this week with these remarks.

"All in all, the 77th Congress of the United States cannot be said to furnish an inspiring example of patrriotic self-sacrifice. Even its alibis are pretty feeble.

"This is not only wartime, but the most critacal period of the most critical year of the war. These appear to be only minor considerations compared with the need of congressmen to get themselves re-elected.

"That they have so shirked their obligation is characteristic of the congress which voted itself pensions and then made it worse by revoking the action when it came to public attention. It is characteristic of the Congress which trampled itself in a stampede for special gasoline priviledges.

"Even now, why are we told that a real shortage of rubber exists and then are fed optomistic stories about new processes' the next? What good can be accomplished by telling the people to conserve rubber and then threatening to seize their tires?

"The answer is politics. Criminally cheap politics.

"Politics that somehow conveys the idea that nothing much can be done about this war until after the fall elections. What a sickening thought in the moment of our nation's greatest peril.

"From varions polls taken throughout the country it is clear that the people stand ready to make any sacrifice, but they demand truth and action in return. No one in congress need fear they can't take the truth. Once it is told we'll all get down to business and make some real headway with the job at hand.

"All that remains now is to see whether the voters of the 2nd district will recognize such gold-brick tactics for what they are."

RILEY SAVES STATE HUGE SUM IN TERM

State Controller Harry B. Riley, candidate for re-election at the August 25 primaries, has saved California taxpayers $12,500,000 in the last six years.

As guardian of the treasury Controller Riley holds the purse strings on the expenditure of state money. Unless a claim for services or supplies furnished the state is legal and proper, Riley refuses to pay.

Last year Riley rejected improper claims totaling more than $3,000,000. He functionns as the state's chier financial officer, making an independent audit of all bills before they can be paid. Through his responsible hands pass more than half a billion dollars every two years.

Soldiers May Not Answer Mail To Unknown People

CHICO FIELD, Aug. 20.— Girls who brighten soldiers' days with mail should expect none in return unless they are personally acquainted with their correspondence.

Letters, snapshots, hometown newspapers and packages are welcomed as excellent morale builders—but only from persons known to the recipients Soldiers are forbidden to correspond with persons unknown to them.

This rule is dictated by the fact that soldiers' mail inevitably contains military information. "Correspondence" or "pen" clubs make it possible for improper persons to assemble such information.

"In asking your support at the primary election next Tuesday, I have only to say that I propose to continue to deal fairly with each and every property owner, giving the same consideration which I would expect. My experience and ability as assessor, I feel, fully qualifies me for the job and I earnestly solicit your support next Tuesday."

That Extra Something!
...You can spot it every time

IN wartime you have to put something extra into housekeeping to make a home bright and cheerful. And housewives know that ice-cold Coca-Cola helps brighten the most important part of home...the people in it.

Coca-Cola has a unique something that sets it apart...a finished art in its making that gives it unmatched taste-appeal ...with an unmistakable after-sense of refreshment.

That's why no imitator can copy the quality and deliciousness so widely recognized in Coca-Cola.

Wartime limits the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember: Coca-Cola, being first choice, is the first to go. Ask for it each time. No matter how short the supply, the quality of Coca-Cola will not be changed in any respect.

Families working on war schedules add an extra burden to the job of housewife. In such homes, ice-cold Coca-Cola brings sparkling refreshment to lighten the task.

The best is always the better buy!
